EASTER SUNDAY

How often do we say yes before completely understanding the ramifications of our assent? How often does something simply feel right and we dive in before we have a complete picture of what's at stake? That might happen upon falling in love, having a child, or making another sort of life commitment. Once made, these decisions and commitments alter the course of our lives.

In the case of the Beloved Disciple, once he encountered the empty tomb he believed even before he understood. It's quite likely that he spent the rest of his life pondering the events of Jesus' life, death, and ultimate resurrection, drawing connections between the Scriptures and what he had witnessed. The entirety of Jesus is something we can never fully comprehend or understand, much like we can never fully comprehend or understand any human being. At the center of each is mystery.

On this Easter Day, let us sit with Simon Peter and the Beloved Disciple in the empty tomb, having been drawn there by Mary. Let us ponder the meaning of this extraordinary event and believe. We have the rest of our lives to unpack and better understand what that entails.
